BOOK PUBLICATIONS

- Afterimage: Poems*. Stephen F. Austin State University Press, 2012
From Oklahoma to Minnesota, Ohio to Nebraska, Vogt traces his life through the echo of his ancestors who settled the southern Plains in the 1800s. With poems based on black and white family photographs, past stories seep out from the worn edges. In a rich array of forms and evocative imagery, the poems in Afterimage reach through prairie history until grass becomes skin, and light becomes shadow.
- Without Such Absence: Poems*. Finishing Line Press, 2010
- Indelible Marks: Poems*. Pudding House, 2004

BOOK CONTRIBUTIONS

- Northern Plains Regional Plant Recommendations, Lawn Gone! Low-Maintenance, Sustainable, Attractive Alternatives For Your Yard. Pam Penick. Ten Speed Press (2013).
- Author Conversation, “Wandering Research,” The Backwards Research Guide for Writers: Using Your Life for Reflection, Connection, and Inspiration. Sonya Huber. Equinox (2011)

MANUSCRIPTS IN PREPARATION & REVIEW

- Morning Glory: A Story of Family and Culture in the Garden* (memoir).
When a quiet relationship between mother and son meets in the garden, her past confronts his future.

Sleep, Creep, Leap: The First Three Years of a Nebraska Garden (essays / prose poems).

After a small patio garden at the author's last home teases him into avid tinkering, the blank canvas of a new marriage and quarter acre lot prove to be a rich place full of delight, anguish, and rapture. Full of lyrical, humorous, and botanical short essays, Sleep, Creep, Leap will leave you inspired to sit a while with your plants, noticing how the smallest events become the largest—and how the garden brings us down to earth so that we can come home to our lives.

Turkey Red (memoir).

An estranged son of Oklahoma traces his Mennonite roots through the echo of his grandmother's diaries, coming to terms with her loss and the state he loathes. The culture and history of Plains Indians, German settlers, and prairie wildlife lead the author into America's frontier legacy—a wound left unhealed until family is discovered again through the vanishing landscapes around us.
